

OLD SOLDIER DEAD

ALBERT S. GIBBS, PIONEER OF COUNTY DIED SUNDAY.

BURIAL AT CLEARMONT

The Funeral Services Will Be Held at the Home This Evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Elbert S. Gibbs, a pioneer resident of Nodaway county, died Sunday at 6:30 o'clock at his home, in Maryville, on East Seventh street, after a long illness of rheumatism. The funeral services will be conducted at the family home Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock by Rev. Lee of the First Baptist church. The services will be in charge of Edgwick post, G. A. R. The body will be taken to Clearmont Tuesday morning for burial, the Odd Fellows to be in charge of the services at the cemetery.

Mr. Gibbs was born near Anderson, Tenn., Jan. 28, 1844. He grew to manhood and at the breaking out of the civil war he enlisted in Company C, Second Tennessee Volunteer Infantry, the cause of the Union. He served the end of the war. In 1866 he married Della Harden of the same county in which he lived. They came to Nodaway county in 1869, and settled on a farm near Clearmont, where their children grew to manhood and womanhood. They lived in Nodaway county until 1890, when they moved to Oklahoma and settled near Oklahoma City, residing there six years.

In 1896 they returned to Nodaway county and settled in Maryville, which has since been their home. Seven children were born to them, five boys and four girls, all of whom lived with the mother, excepting a daughter, Olive E. Gibbs, who died in Maryville soon after the family removed from Oklahoma. The children are: Laura, wife of R. H. Banister, and Jennie, wife of W. T. Banister, both living at Palisades, Col.; Ethel, wife of Earl Cannam of Springfield, Utah; W. R. Gibbs of Sedalia, Mo.; Everett S. Gibbs of Calgary, Alta, Canada, and Oakley H. Gibbs of Omaha.

Mr. Gibbs had been a consistent member of the Baptist church for forty years. He was a member of the I. O. O. F. lodge, No. 431, of Clearmont, and of Sedgwick post, G. A. R., of this city. Mrs. Gibbs, who has been in poor health for some time, is proscribed at her husband's death.

TOWNS SLOW TO ACT

ALWAYS URGING GOOD ROADS
BUT FAIL TO HELP.

LOTS OF ADVICE, NO MONEY

Contributor to Farmer and Stockman
Arraigns Towns for Failure to Give Real Assistance.

To the Editor: The following communication was sent to the editor of the Farmer and Stockman, and appeared in that paper of a recent date. I would like to have you print the article in your paper.

A GOOD ROAD MAN.

The way the towns and cities throughout the country periodically take up the subject of good roads, get out in their autos and try to stir up enthusiasm to a high pitch among the farmers, and generally do everything but actual good to the roads, is rather amusing to the man who has witnessed such efforts before. The idea seems to be to get out and convince the farmers that they need rock, macadam and such like roads bad enough to pay for them, and our distinguished visitors from the cities are very willing to do everything in their power to help us along, except to furnish any of the wherewith or energy to do the actual work.

All over the country there are "commercial clubs" by the thousand. Every town, big or little, has something of the kind, and every so often these clubs meet and whooper-up for good roads. Anyone might think that some of the members of these clubs were going out the next morning, armed with tools made for moving dirt, and that henceforth road improvement would not stop to linger by the wayside, but that the good work would go right on until turnpikes everywhere would be the result. Sorry to say, however, the town man's enthusiasm for good roads ends as it began, in a lot of talk.

All this summer one of these "commercial clubs" near here has been doing a wonderful lot of discussing of what they call "good roads." It was started in the early spring, and we all thought that something might be started before the season for the building of good grades came to an end, but the time when grades should be made is now almost to an end, and still there has been nothing done to the roads, except what the regular tax levy, mostly contributed to by the farmers, has accomplished. In the meantime, the club meets once or twice a month to "discuss," and each time some "stirring resolutions" are adopted, but that is as far as the movement has advanced or is liable to advance.

Of course we need better roads than we have, and generally speaking, we can afford to spend more on our roads than we do, but inasmuch as it is the farmer who already pays for the good we have accomplished to the roads, it seems a strange piece of business for so many of the townspeople to take such keen interest in the upbuilding of the roads, and still stop suddenly short when the time arrives to pitch in and do something that counts for more than discussion or resolutions. It looks like a case of urging the farmer on to see how much can be gotten out of him. If the towns want the better roads right up to the town limits, let them get out and do a little to make them so, or contribute in cash that others may go ahead and even a little to help of the good work of making the roads better. What we need is less talk and something doing.

FOR FALL CONTESTS

LETTERS NOW BEING SENT TO VARIOUS HIGH SCHOOLS.

TO COMPETE FOR PRIZES

Boys and Girls to Enter Declamatory
Contest During Teachers'
Conference.

Superintendent of Schools Oakeson is this week sending out letters to the high schools of the county, asking for entries in a declamatory contest, to be held during the teachers' conference in November. The contest will be held in the high school auditorium and prizes will be offered, the first being a gold watch, the second a $10 gold piece and the third a $5 gold piece. If as many as four boys enter the contest will be divided and one contest will be between the boys and the other between the girls. There are twelve high schools in the county and if entries are received from more than eight of them a preliminary contest will be held, as not more than eight contestants can be heard in the time allotted for the evening. The letter follows:

Maryville, Mo., Sept. 18, 1911.—Dear Friends: Our regular fall Teachers' association will be held Nov. 2 and 4, 1911. I am planning again for a declamatory contest by high school pupils. I would like this year to have two divisions of the contest; one a contest by the boys, the other a contest by the girls. If we secure as many as four boys for the contest we will make this division, if not those boys who enter may contest with the girls. Look over your school and see what material you have for the contest. If you have several applicants who desire to enter, you can arrange for a preliminary contest at home, or leave the matter to a vote of the high school pupils or use your own good judgment in the selection of the representative. If you have a boy and a girl each who desire to enter I may be able to admit both, and if that makes too many for the final contest we can have a preliminary contest here the day of the final contest and decide who shall be the final contestants.

Let me hear from you soon regarding the matter. I do not care to know who the contestant will be, but desire to know if you will furnish a girl or a boy for the contest, or both.

The usual good prizes will be offered.

For further information concerning the contest write me.

Very truly yours,

W. M. OAKESON.

In previous contests not enough boys have entered to make a separate contest for the boys, but this time it is hoped that a full representation from each of the high schools, of both boys and girls, will enter, which will make the interest much greater.

Largest Circulation in Nodaway County

The Kansas City Star wants the four Democratic members of the board of permanent seat of government to let Governor Hadley have his way about naming the four commissioners that are to build the new capitol. If the general assembly had intended for the government to dominate the board it would have said so. The law rests the power to appoint four commissioners in five men equally. It does not say Governor Hadley shall name two of the four members and the other four shall appoint two only. And still the governor wants to do that very thing—arrogate to himself four times as much power as he is willing to concede to either of the other four members of the board. Of course, the governor will not be permitted to get away with any such stunt as this. He is one of the board, not half of it. He will be consulted and will have his say just as any other one of the board will have. He will count one, no more, no less. He will have one vote in five in naming each of the four commissioners—that's what the law gives him; that's all he is entitled to and that's all he will get. This is not official, but it will be found to be correct.

SECRETS OF THE LAUNDRY.

(Cassier's Magazine.)

The disinfecter is a most useful and necessary acquisition to any large power laundry. The germ destroying factor, which is the essential feature of the disinfecter, is the heat of high pressure steam, the steam being supplied from a special type of vertical boiler.

The machines which rank next in importance to the disinfecter are the rotary washing machines. These are externally of steel plate and internally of polished copper. The rotary washer consists of a strong steam tight casing built of riveted boiler plate and sufficiently strengthened to enable it to withstand a pressure of steam up to fifty pounds per square inch.

The internal cage in which the clothes are placed is made of copper rods, well cleaned and polished, having their ends attached to "carrying plates," these plates being attached to journals through which the cage is driven. The cage is also provided with "obstruction ribs" to prevent the "roping" (or clinging together) of the articles being washed.

Water and high pressure steam are admitted to the casing, the casing also being provided with an easily closing steam tight door. The rotary washers are provided with automatic reversing gear for the purpose of allowing the internal copper cage to be run a few revolutions in either direction alternately, giving to the clothes the tumbling action so necessary to efficient cleansing.

The hydroextractor comes next, and, as its name implies, it is used for the purpose of extracting the removable water from the clothes by centrifugal force. The articles are placed in a strongly constructed cage, or basket, which is made to rotate at a high rate of speed by belt or direct connected engine. The water thrown off is caught by a strong castiron pan and thence drained away to waste.

The drying closet is next in importance and is a more imposing piece of laundry plant than would be supposed. It is a structure of considerable dimensions, built of brick on three sides and having a well drained cemented floor. A substantial airtight roof is also provided. Much ingenuity has been exercised in the design and construction of the front of the closet. It consists of six, nine, twelve, eighteen and sometimes twenty-four distinct and separate doors, according to the general dimensions of the plant.

These doors are of light castiron with alternate rebates on either side and are seven feet high by twelve inches wide. Each door is provided with rails or "horses," such rails being carried at the back of the closet on a light steel galvanized plate equal in height and width to the front door. On these rails the half dried articles are duly hung, and each and every door may be separately manipulated, i. e. drawn out on outside runners and rails, emptied of clothes and filled with others to be dried.

The heating of the closet is effected by multiple steam heated coils, tested to 120 pounds per square inch and efficiently drained of water by a steam trap. The vapor arising from the clothes is mechanically drawn from the closet by an exhaust fan scientifically arranged in conjunction with a duct for dry air, it having been early known by the manufacturers to be impossible to dry effectively clothes by simply heating them. The air loaded with vapor must be withdrawn mechanically and dry air must replace it.

Woman's Prerogative.

"I want to talk about my husband," said the stout woman, as she took a chair and sat upon the lounge.

"That is woman's prerogative," replied the great detective. "Proceed, Mrs. Smith. Tut, tut, don't ask me. It's very simple. I know your name is Smith because one out of every thousand names is Smith, and my dear madam, I saw at a glance that you are a woman in a thousand."

"He acts funny, peculiar, odd, strange," went on the woman, "when ever he mails a letter. I have been afraid to mention it to him, but, oh, sir, oh, I fear there is some terrible secret behind it all. First he stands, with legs wide apart, in front of the mail box, then he waves the stamp three times over his head and runs the envelope on his bald spot, and then he puts the stamp on upside down. Not once, but every time he mails a letter, and—"

"Madam," interrupted the great detective, "is your husband a graduate of a correspondence school?" and when she nodded a surprised affirmative, he explained, "Then no further fears. It used to be his college yell, and he still has the habit."—Philadelphia Times.

Russian Prayer Halls.

In the villages of Russia the "prayer hall" in the common "izba" or cottage of a Stundist mujik, or a shed attached to a very primitive farmstead surrounded by prodigious quantities of mud, dust or snow, according to the season of the year. A separate building erected expressly for worship among the rural evangelicals of Russia is a luxury yet to be provided in the great majority of cases. The meeting place, whether "izba" or outhouse, has walls of earth, and is without ceiling. The floor is the bare earth, trodden hard by many feet through the lapse of long years, and worn into lumps and hollows. The walls are lime washed and destitute of decoration or adornment. There are rough wooden benches around and across the room. The place is usually packed to suffocation with men, women and children, crowded on the seats, thronging the doorways and huddling together on the top of the huge stove.—Detroit Free Press.

LADIES BAND INSTRUMENTS ON DISPLAY

Many of the instruments for the new Maryville ladies' band that has been organized by Miss Alma Nash were placed on display Monday morning in the Field-Lippman piano store, on West Third street, and the assortment of instruments make a very handsome window attraction.

The silver plated cornet that will be played by Miss Mary Q. Evans is a little beauty.

All the instruments are handsome and are enough to make their owners straighten up an inch or so with very pardonable pride.

Mr. F. P. Rowilson, manager of the Field-Lippman store, ordered the instruments for the young ladies, and takes nearly as much pride in their display as their owners.

Miss Nash now has thirty-four young women and girls in her band, a list of whom we will give Tuesday.

Mr. Deal For State Treasurer.

The many friends of Hon. E. P. Deal of Mississippi county are urging him to become a candidate for the nomination for state treasurer. Mr. Deal is vice president of the Bank of Charleston (capital stock $100,000, surplus $25,000). He has served his county two terms as collector and two terms as treasurer. He has been on the appropriations committee during his three terms in the house, being chairman of that committee. Last winter he was the hardest working member of the house. No legislation was delayed by this committee, and for the first time no amendments were made to any of the appropriations which were not approved by the committee. Mr. Deal is a genial, hard-working all-round man, and his party would make no mistake in nominating him. ANDERSON CRAIG.

WHERE JOHN D.'S WEALTH REPOSES

Steel Citadel Under One of New York's Big Banks.

TEN LOCKS AND THICK DOORS

Vault That Guards $200,000,000 in Securities Cost $100,000 to Build—Million Possible Combinations to the Locks, and It Is Impossible For Any One to Pick Them.

Under the northeast corner of the New York Produce Exchange reposes the bulk of the collateral wealth of the richest man in the world—John D. Rockefeller. In a specially constructed bombproof, burglar proof and fireproof vault built under the structure has been stored upward of $200,000,000 worth of securities, the personal property of Mr. Rockefeller.

Of course John D. does not put all his eggs in one basket. His mortgages are reported to be lodged in the vaults under the Rockefeller building in Cleveland, O., and there are a score of banks and trust companies throughout the country which carry large balances in his name. Besides, John D. has other hiding places in the downtown section of Manhattan for United States bonds and various securities put up with him for short term loans.

But his principal eggs are in the iron nest under the New York Produce Exchange, where scissors clip merrily for him on the big coupon days.

Ten Locks Secure Treasure.

Between the street outside and the repositories of the Rockefeller securities are ten locks varied in character. The first is the bolt in the outside door at the sidewalk level. The second is the bolt in the door opening from the foot of the stairs into the public entrance of the safe deposit company.

Once in front of the iron vault, which is the largest of its kind in the world devoted to containing the properties of a single person, there is presented to view a cage not at all unlike the one in which the famous Captain Dreyfus was confined at Devil's Island.

Eight locks still confront you. The first of these is turned in the door opening through the grilled cage surrounding the door of the vault proper.

There now remain seven locks in the John D. series. Two of these are padlocks, one upon each of the two combination locks visible from the exterior of the closed door of the vault. Each has a different combination to unlock. There are six tumblers on each lock. The numbers run from 1 to 100, which makes each lock susceptible to 1,000,000 changes. It is impossible for anybody to pick these combination locks.

The door of the vault is moved by hand, and it opens easily owing to its swinging upon a compound double goose crane hinge, which is carefully balanced on ball and roller bearings made of the finest hardened tool steel. This permits the door to swing lightly, although it has the weight of nine tons.

The interior of the vault is nine feet wide, nine feet high and fifteen feet deep. The wall of the vault has a thickness of forty inches. In the center of thirty-six inches of concrete are ninety pound steel rails set six inches apart in double rows, interlocked so as to be practically three inches apart. The remaining four inches of the wall are four one-inch thicknesses of solid steel.

Twenty Safes Inside.

Looking toward the open door toward the interior of the vault there are arranged upon either side numerous compartments or small safes. There are from fifteen to twenty of these, varying in size. These chests have sides two inches thick, with doors from two and a half to three inches thick, all of the best steel, and each of these doors is locked by heavy bolt work similar to that of the big door of the vault. The average height of the chests are four feet each, with a width of four feet and a depth of two feet.

In one of these inner inside compartments is a card index, which one even Solomon in all his wisdom could not guess. The index registers the bonds, with their dates of maturity and the months when the coupons come off.

Mr. Rockefeller planned his vault at a time when President McKinley was an occupant of the White House. The old king had ordered many smaller vaults from the Cantor concern—located in the home of McKinley—for his various refineries through western Pennsylvania and northeastern Ohio. The vault is said to have cost between $75,000 and $100,000.

WHY THEY GO ON A STRIKE.

British Railway Employee's Side of Their Troubles.

UNDERPAID AND OVERWORKED

While Roads Declare Enormous Dividends—Pension Fund Really a Source of Income to Employers and of Little Benefit to Men.

A few thousand shareholders in the railroads of Great Britain divide among themselves each year the enormous sum of $215,000,000. There are fifty-one highly paid managers, who receive salaries of $1,155 per week. One general manager who directs a small Scottish line gets $25,000 a year.

Now, as an offset to these high priced people there are 150,000 employees whose average wage is less than $5 per week, while another 350,000 average $5.00 per week. Altogether there are about 534,000 employees in these low earning positions.

When a previous strike was threatened evidence was given before the labor commission that many employees worked seventy hours per week for $3.36. The railway workers get less wages per man than any other trade in England.

The following statement was made by an employee of a British railway and throws considerable light on the recent strike situation and recites in part the grievances behind the present industrial upheaval in the United Kingdom:

At the Beginning.

"I began life in a signal box as a lad, earning $1.50 per week. Every other Sunday I had to work for nothing. I suppose it was because I was only a boy and couldn't help myself. At the same time if my time was worth anything it ought to have been paid for.

"When I was old enough to handle baggage and do the work of a porter around the stations I got 50 cents more a week for two years and then I was raised to $2.50 per week. Though doing a grown man's work, I only got $2.50 per week for two years, because there is a rule by which one cannot get more than this sum until one is eighteen years old, no matter what work he does.

"Besides doing portering, I had to do 'fogging,' or putting fog signals on the track when required. This work is very dangerous, but we get no extra pay for it whatever. Sometimes after a full ten hour day portering, or pulling about heavy baggage, I have to go on 'fog duty' nearly all night, especially in December, when we have those heavy fogs. The railway gives us no extra pay for this, but allows us 12 cents' worth of 'grub.' They would not have allowed us the 12 cents' worth of 'grub' only the men used to get so hungry they would quit work to get food, and that endangered the lives of passengers. So the company gave us the allowance of actual food, but no increase of money.

"For our first twelve hours' work of 'fogging' we get, as I said, 12 cents' worth of 'grub.' If our work lasts longer than twelve hours we get another 18 cents—in 'grub,' not money. Working all day as a parcel porter and then working all night at 'fogging' is pretty rough. It is a wonder more trains don't go to smash, the men are often so exhausted and sleepy. Some of the men meet with accidents at times because they get too tired to look sharp every instant.

Wages $5.28 a Week.

"My wages are now 22 shillings ($5.28) per week, out of which the company each week takes 18 cents for what it calls 'provident and pension.' That is to give us a pension after we get to sixty-five years. But, let me tell you, mighty few of us live that long. If you leave the company after paying into this fund for ten years you don't get a cent back. It is all velvet to them. Every single man—married ones, too—must pay into this fund. The company must get a snug little sum, considering that so few reach the pension age.

"As a mere porter and without fogging I work ten full hours a day and often have extra work at night. For the night work all the extra pay I get is 44 cents. I have often worked from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. and then right on to 3 a. m. next morning, just getting this 44 cents and no more.

"The company allows us no time for food, so we have to snatch it when we get a chance. This means doing heavy work often on insufficient food and sometimes without any at all. Some of this work is very dangerous, as we often have to get down on the tracks and shift parcels from one platform to another. Men are often killed by passing 'specials.' The parcels often weigh 150 to 200 pounds.

"I am married and support as best I can a wife and one child on $5.28 per week. Less 18 cents for 'provident and pension,' less $1.80 per week for two rooms for rent in a slum quarter, less, say, 32 cents for coal, leaves $2.08 for self, wife and baby."

French Workmen's Pension Law.

The French workmen's pension law calls for a contribution of about $1.60 a year by each beneficiary, an equal sum by his employer, and the state adds a third.

Home of the Guillotine.

A wagon drawn by the two prize horses Gaspard and Balthazar makes its way slowly and solemnly through Paris from M. Deibler's shed in the Rue de la Folie-Regnault to the San prison, Boulevard Arago. It was evident from the care taken that the contents of the wagon were precious and if it had been known that the guillotine, which has served its sister purpose for many years on the Place de la Roquette and all over France, was being moved to its new home more persons would have stopped to look at the silent procession.

The new home of M. Deibler's "waggon" is the courtyard of the San prison, so that when an execution contemplated now there will be watching the premises in the Rue de la Folie-Regnault for signs of activity as a "tip" that M. Deibler is going to operate. Now the machine will be hand, except, of course, when it performs out of the capital. The residents in the neighborhood of the former resting place certainly are complaining of its departure.

TROOPS FIRE ON VIENNA RIOTERS

Mobs Riot in Protest at the High Food Prices.

MANY KILLED OR WOUNDED.

Benefers for Necessities of Life Are in Open Warfare—Cheer for Portugal and Revolution—Cavalry Charges Made Upon People.

Vienna, Sept. 18.—Traceable to the high price of the necessities of life riots broke out here and many persons were killed or wounded. Troops fired on the mob, which had erected barricades in the streets. There was a fierce exchange of bullets and the soldiers were pelted with all sorts of missiles.

Following a huge socialistic demonstration outside the rathaus, held for the purpose of protesting against the high prices of food, it became necessary to call out troops to disperse the rioters. In the early clashes fifty of the rioters were wounded and 100 arrested. Fifty thousand persons were present at the demonstration and fiery speeches were made demanding that the government permit the importation of foreign meat and take other measures to remedy the conditions which have resulted from the prohibitory increase in the price of food.

After the meeting a large procession marched to the parliament buildings, cheering for revolution and Portugal. Revolvers were fired in the air and then the mob began stone-throwing. A squadron of dragoons and a detachment of infantry charged the rioters and dispersed them. The mob demolished all the street lamps in the main thoroughfare, plunging the city into darkness. They erected barricades, hurled missiles of various kinds on the soldiers from the upper windows of houses. The order was at length given to the troops to fire. At the first volley many rioters fell, either killed or wounded. Several of the soldiers and policemen also were injured and 100 or more rioters were arrested.

MISSOURI HERMIT SLAIN

Robbery Supposed to Have Been the Motive for the Crime.

Mason, Mo., Sept. 18.—Dr. I. R. Howell, coroner of Macon county, was notified that John Gordon Jones, the old hermit of the Charlton valley, was found with a bullet hole through his head. Some boys who had been hunting in the woods stepped into the cave to see the old man and found his body. Things were somewhat disarranged.

The hermit was about seventy-five years old. For nearly forty years he has lived in a little cave or sod house that he erected when he took up his land. He was very frugal and it is said he has a great deal of money out at interest and it is possible that some person believed he had some hidden away near his cabin.

MEXICAN MOB SLEW THREE

Eighteen Persons Were Injured In Riots in Monterey.

Monterey, Mex., Sept. 18.—Three men were killed and eighteen wounded in Monterey in the anniversary celebration which degenerated into a riot.

The riot began with the stoning of windows, and when the police attempted to disperse the crowd they were fired on. A detachment of cavalry was immediately dispatched to the Plaza Juarez, the scene of the disturbance, and finally suppressed the riot after charging the mob several times with drawn sabers.

The bodies of those killed showed bullet wounds, indicating that they were victims of the mob.

DEATH LIST MOUNTS TO A TOTAL OF TEN

Lee Oldfield, Driver of Skidding Auto, in Serious Condition.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Harry Bradley of Franklin, N. Y., one of those injured by Lee Oldfield's car when it crashed through the fence at the state fair, is dead. His death brings the list of dead up to ten.

Half a dozen of the score or more who sustained injuries as a result of the accident are still on the critical list. Oldfield, driver of the automobile, is in a serious condition with a fractured rib and internal hurts. The accident happened in the forty-third mile. De Palma was leading by a lap, with Oldfield trailing him, as they entered the first quarter of that mile. The big cars, traveling, it is estimated, at seventy-five miles an hour, were running side by side as they swung around the turn, after passing the grandstand.

As they took the turn there was a report. The car driven by Oldfield leaped in the air. Then it swerved to the outer side and crashed through the fence. The crippled machine, beyond the control of the driver, ploughed through hundreds of persons lined along the fence.

The financial loss is about $20,000.

In the front ranks of the volunteer fire fighters was Aviator Robert G. Fowler, who is preparing to scale the high Sierras on the third leg of his transcontinental aeroplane trip.

DEAD AUTHOR WON A SUFFRAGE PRIZE.

Miss Taylor's Hymn Accepted Two Weeks After Her Demise.

A poem written by Miss Minetta Theodora Taylor, educator and author, of Greencastle, Ind., has been awarded the $100 prize offered by the woman's suffrage party of New York for a national suffrage anthem. Ninety-eight poems were submitted in the contest, and the one accepted was sent in by the author five days before her death, two weeks ago.

The words, which have been copyrighted by the woman's suffrage party, are as follows:

Once more awakes the spirit of the just,
And a worldwide flame is kindled from the dust.

Women, for the right we know,
For the duty that we owe,
For all souls now here and coming, vote we must.

CHORUS.

We the people! All the people! How it rings!
Justice broad and free, the living heart of things.

Sisters working for the light,
Brothers striving for the right,
We the people! All the people! How it rings!

Our voice is for wisdom of the free
Ever growing since our parents crossed the sea.

Silence in the court of wrong
To the weakling must belong
Let our spirits, strong and earnest, speak and see.

We are walking where the heroes all have trod,
A weary way where we can only plod,
But we're toiling in the space
Where the martyrs took their place,
And our mighty shout is risen to our God.

Ye powers of evil, earth is not your own!
Women helping, you shall yet be overthrown.

And a better life shall rise
Than has gladdened human eyes,
And true peace shall blend the nations into one.

Let us stand together, women, hard and fast!
Let us vow to keep the faith until the last!

By the truth the world has learned,
By the falsehood it has spurned,
We will vote and rise above the vanished past.

HEART ON HIS RIGHT SIDE.

Bloomfield Boy Eleven Years Old Before Fact Is Discovered.

The fact that the heart of eleven-year-old William Stevens of Bloomfield, N. J., is on the right side of his body was revealed recently.

The boy has been complaining for several days of a pain in his right side. It was at first believed by his parents that the pain was due to a summer complaint, and they administered home remedies. These failed to give relief, and a physician was summoned. He gave the boy a thorough examination and declared that he found nothing wrong with his physical condition.

"There is just one other thing I can do," remarked the physician, "and that is to make a careful test of the heart."

Then the doctor applied the stethoscope to the left side of the boy's body. The boy's breathing was regular, but there was no heartbeat. The physician was puzzled for a moment, and then he tried the instrument to the right side.

"There are cases on record," he said, "where the heart is on the right side."

It was then that he made the discovery that the boy's heart was not where it should be.

MEXICO FEARS REVOLT.

Calls Off Independence Day Festivity of Sept. 16.

Fear of an uprising against the government on the anniversary of Mexican independence, Sept. 16, will result in almost all celebration being postponed this year. The officials of Torreón, Gomez Palacio and Lerdo in the state of Durango, have already ordered that there shall be no celebration.

The Mexican government is taking active steps to curb the Socialists. For scathing arraignments of President Taft, King Alfonso and the Emperor William Lázaro Gutiérrez de Lara, the Mexican Socialist who created a sensation in the United States by his identification with the articles on "Barbarous Mexico," is now behind the bars in Torreón charged with insulting the heads of foreign governments. He is the man who spent considerable time in an El Paso jail for creating a disturbance in the streets during the late Mexican revolution. Also he was arrested in Los Angeles and held for extradition for the Mexican government, but defeated the extradition of fact.

Miss Dora McKenzie and Miss Mary Culver spent Saturday evening at the Bolckow fair.

College of Agriculture at the State Fair.

Visitors to the Missouri state fair at Sedalia, September 30th to October 6th, should not fail to see the exhibit of the college of agriculture in the university building. It will tell in a most highly interesting manner of the results obtained in various parts of Missouri by applying scientific methods to ordinary farm practice.

Among the interesting exhibits of the dairy department will be a daughter of "Josephine" with a record greater than that of her mother at the same age. The method of making hog cholera serum—its application and its beneficial effects will occupy a portion of the veterinary exhibit. By means of pictures and charts the story will be told of how corn yields have been increased on some Missouri farms 16½ to 25 bushels per acre, and wheat 15 bushels; how by proper pruning peach trees have been made to produce two additional crops in eight years; how the ravages of plant diseases and insect pests may be successfully controlled; how intelligent feeding and breeding may be combined to produce the most perfect specimens of beef cattle.

In short, the exhibit will cover every phase of activity which makes the college of agriculture a power for the betterment of Missouri farm conditions.

Representatives of the farm management department will occupy a special booth, and will be on hand at all times to confer with farmers in regard to planning crop rotations, systems of stock farm management and all details connected with successful present day farm practices.

A Way to Remove the Hairs.

What shall we do with our hats in elevators? It has been hitherto regarded as good manners to remove your hat if the lift in which you were traveling contained a lady. Now there has arisen a school of thought which opposes this, and a league of hat retainers is actually forming. One man, confessing to a name like "Mildew," writes gallantly, saying that elevator hat removing is a farcical courtesy.

We remember that some persons of Mr. Mildew's way of thinking were once traveling in an elevator, and a crowded one. Hats were not removed. But a pert young woman, and not uncommonly, uttered the cruel remark: "Say, Sadie, they must all have bald spots on their heads." Hats were rapidly removed. Women solve world problems with startling rapidity.—New York Evening Telegraph.

DON'T EXPERIMENT.

You Will Make No Mistake if You Follow This Maryville Citizen's Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys. If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are all symptoms of kidney trouble, and you should seek a remedy which is known to cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use. No need to experiment. It has cured many stubborn cases in Maryville. Follow the advice of a Maryville citizen and be cured yourself.

Mrs. A. Weidman, East Thompson street, Maryville, Mo., says: "I had terrible pains in my kidneys and was also bothered by the kidney secretions. The contraction of a cold or a change in the weather was sure to increase my suffering. I used every remedy that I thought would help me, but met with indifferent success. I had about despaired of ever finding relief, when I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured a box at Charles A. Love's drug store and found them to be especially adapted to my case. I was soon free from all aches and pains and my kidneys were restored to a normal condition. I have enjoyed excellent health since then and I know that my cure is a permanent one."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

YOUR GRAY HAIRS QUICKLY VANISH

A Harmless Remedy, Made from Garden Sage, Restores Color to Gray Hair.

A feeling of sadness accompanies the discovery of the first gray hairs, which, unfortunately, are looked upon as heralds of advancing age. Gray hairs, however, are not always an indication of advancing age, for many people have gray hairs quite early in life. Of course, it is unnatural, and indicates that there is something wrong with the individual, and that nature needs assistance in correcting the trouble. The same is true of hair that is constantly falling out and becoming thinner every day. If everything is right with nature, the hair, even in comparatively elderly people, should be long, thick and glossy, without even a streak of gray.

The ideal assistant to nature in restoring and preserving the hair is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a clean and wholesome dressing for daily use. It not only removes dandruff, but strengthens weak, thin and falling hair and promotes its growth. A few applications will restore faded or gray hair to its natural color.

Get a bottle today, and let it do for you what it has done for thousands of others.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special agents, Koch Pharmacy.

FORMER SENATOR CARTER IS DEAD

Picturesque Character in National Politics Passes Away.

DIES AT WASHINGTON HOME.

Was Twice Montana Senator, His Last Term Expiring on March 3, This Year—Was Once Chairman of Republican National Committee.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Former United States Senator Thomas Henry Carter of Montana, for many years a notable and picturesque character in national politics, once chairman of the © 1911, by American Press Association.

THOMAS H. CARTER.

Republican national committee, and since last year chairman of the American section of the international commission, died at his home of infection of the lungs. He was fifty-seven years old.

Mr. Carter was born in Scioto county, Ohio, Oct. 30, 1854, went to the common schools in Illinois, engaged in farming, railroading and school teaching for a number of years; studied law and in 1882 moved from Burlington, Ia., to Helena, Mont.

Mr. Carter had a remarkable career. It extended over twenty-two years of congressional and official life at Washington. This embraced service as the first representative elected from Montana, two terms in the United States senate and executive positions as commissioner of the general land office, chairman of the Republican national committee in the second and unsuccessful campaign of Benjamin Harrison for the presidency, president of the United States commissioners for the Louisiana Purchase exposition at St. Louis and since last March chairman of the newly created "international joint commission, American section," and practically charged with Canadian boundary matters.

His defeat by a Democrat for reelection to the senate caused Mr. Carter's retirement from the body March 4 last. He framed and fought for conservation legislation, opposed extravagance in irrigation projects and campaigned for the Taft Canadian reciprocity bill.

Perhaps the most remarkable of all his forensic achievements was his defeat of a big river and harbor appropriation bill. President McKinley did not favor the bill, and Mr. Carter, at ways a strong administration supporter, began a speech against it at 10:30 o'clock at night and talked continuously until noon of the day following when the session of congress expired.

CHURCH PEOPLE IN A ROW

Members of Christian Denomination Get into Court.

Nebraska City, Neb., Sept. 18.—Taylor McGuire, the custodian, and Mr. Goldsby, one of the trustees of the Church of Christ, went before Judge Wilson and secured a restraining order against Rev. Mr. McFarland and the other two trustees to prevent them from interfering with the church or any of the property therein. They are that Rev. Mr. McFarland is not a member of the church and that he and the other two trustees are preaching dissent doctrine and that they have laid down by the ethics of the church.

Mr. McGuire claims to have purchased the lots on which the church is located and the property is dedicated for a certain cause and a certain sect and the elders of that church refuse to ordain Rev. Mr. Parker as a minister at their meeting at Rulo. The case will come up for hearing at the November term of the district court.

Folk Chief Speaker.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 18.—M. A. Cassidy of this city, president of the Conference for Education in the South, which meets in Houston, Tex., Nov. 30, Dec. 1 and 2, announced that former Governor Joseph W. Folk of Missouri would make the chief address. Theodore Roosevelt had been invited to speak, but declined.

BOAT INJURES LANDSMEN

Three Were Victims When a Motor Craft Came Ashore.

Buffalo, Sept. 18.—Dixie IV., Frederick K. Burnham's speedy motor boat, which defended the Harnsworth cup at Huntington, L. I., and won the championship of the United States, lies a wreck on a narrow ridge of rocks between the Niagara river and the Erie canal, off Riverside park. The Dixie was leading in a race for the Great Lakes championship and was speeding at thirty-nine miles an hour when the accident occurred, which resulted in the injury of three spectators.

Mr. Burnham, who was at the wheel, and four of his crew escaped uninjured. Harold Bell, a thirteen-year-old boy, suffered a fractured skull and will die. His mother, Mrs. Elmer Bell, was injured about the head, and the leg of John Daniels, son of Dr. John Daniels, was cut off just above the ankle.

Something went wrong with the Dixie's steering gear. It careened for a moment, then headed directly for the shore. The Dixie leaped entirely out of the water and dashed into the crowd on shore, which was slow to scatter when the boat headed toward them, not realizing that it was beyond control.

MOROCCAN CRISIS NEAR END

Germany and France Have Few Points of Difference.

Berlin, Sept. 18.—It is declared in official circles that the French reply to the German counter-proposals on the Moroccan affair is thoroughly satisfactory. An agreement, it is stated, has been reached on a majority of the points in dispute. Germany is hastening her answer and it probably will be some slight modifications of the French text of the new agreement and then it will be only a matter of drafting a treaty.

The German reply to the French note will be concerned chiefly with the question of guarantees whereby a policy of an open door in Morocco will be adequately assured to all nations, including arrangements to prevent the customs administration and railroad management being so manipulated as to give an unfair advantage to French shippers and providing for a fair division in the matter of public works.

Kansas Farmer a Suicide.

Wellington, Kan., Sept. 18.—Eugene H. Procz, a retired farmer, killed himself here with a shotgun, which he discharged by using a curtain roller to push the trigger. He had been suffering for months with liver trouble. He leaves a wife and two grown children.

Edward Whympier Is Dead.

Chaumont, France, Sept. 18.—Edward Whympier, artist, author and traveler, died here. Whympier was a noted naturalist clubber. He was born in 1846.

CATARH sufferers.

If You Don't Know About Hyomei Try It at the Orear-Henry Drug Company's Risk.

Nearly every reader of The Democrat-Forum has read about Hyomei, but many of them continue to suffer from catarrh just because they do not exactly understand just what Hyomei is.

To these sufferers the Orear-Henry Drug company says you don't have to know anything about Hyomei except that you can breathe it and that it does not contain cocaine or opium or any harmful drug.

You can find out all about Hyomei without taking any chances whatever. Just get an outfit today, read the simple instructions, give it a fair trial and then if you are not willing to say that it is the best remedy for catarrh you have ever used the Orear-Henry Drug Co. will gladly return your money.

A complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00. Extra bottles 50 cents.

Say, Have You Ever

Bought any coal from Frank G. Shoemaker and had it delivered with the big white wagon? Those white wagons don't make a bad appearance on the streets of the city do they? And the horses look like they had enough to eat too. So do the drivers. The scales and yards are kept up in the same way, and that system of doing business makes it a legitimate mercantile business, like any other business of the city, and worthy of your patronage if prices and coals are right, and they are—because I am behind every pound of coal sold. If it is not right I will see that all is satisfactory or money refunded. Let me figure with you for your winter coal.

Yours truly,

OLD SOLDIER DEAD

ELBERT S. GIBBS, PIONEER OF COUNTY DIED SUNDAY.

BURIAL AT CLEARMONT

The Funeral Services Will Be Held at the Home This Evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Elbert S. Gibbs, a pioneer resident of Nodaway county, died Sunday at 1:30 o'clock at his home, in Maryville, on East Seventh street, after a long illness of rheumatism.

The funeral services will be conducted at the family home Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock by Rev. Lee Arrel of the First Baptist church. The services will be in charge of Edgwick post, G. A. R. The body will be taken to Clearmont Tuesday morning for burial, the Odd Fellows to be in charge of the services at the cemetery.

Mr. Gibbs was born near Andersonville, Anderson county, Tenn., January 28, 1844. He grew to manhood here and at the breaking out of the civil war he enlisted in Company C, Second Tennessee Volunteer Infantry, the cause of the Union. He served the end of the war. In 1866 he married Della Harden of the same county in which he lived. They came to Nodaway county in 1869, and settled on a farm near Clearmont, where their children grew to manhood and womanhood. They lived in Nodaway county until 1890, when they moved to Oklahoma and settled near Oklahoma City, residing there six years.

1896 they returned to Nodaway county and settled in Maryville, which has since been their home.

Seven children were born to them, five boys and four girls, all of whom survive with the mother, excepting a daughter, Olive E. Gibbs, who died in Maryville soon after the family removed from Oklahoma. The children are: Laura, wife of R. H. Bancroft, and Jennie, wife of W. T. Bancroft, both living at Palsades, Col.; Ethel, wife of Earl Cannam of Springfield, Utah; W. R. Gibbs of Sedalia, Mo.; Everett S. Gibbs of Calgary, Alberta, Canada, and Oakley H. Gibbs of Omaha.

Mr. Gibbs had been a consistent member of the Baptist church for forty years. He was a member of the I. O. F. lodge, No. 431, of Clearmont, and of Sedgwick post, G. A. R., of this city. Mrs. Gibbs, who has been in poor health for some time, is pros- trated at her husband's death.

TOWNS SLOW TO ACT

ALWAYS URGING GOOD ROADS BUT FAIL TO HELP.

LOTS OF ADVICE, NO MONEY

Contributor to Farmer and Stockman Arraigns Towns for Failure to Give Real Assistance.

To the Editor: The following communication was sent to the editor of the Farmer and Stockman, and appeared in that paper of a recent date. I would like to have you print the article in your paper.

A GOOD ROAD MAN.

The way the towns and cities throughout the country periodically take up the subject of good roads, get out in their autos and try to stir up enthusiasm to a high pitch among the farmers, and generally do everything but actual good to the roads, is rather amusing to the man who has witnessed such efforts before. The idea seems to be to get out and convince the farmers that they need rock, macadam and such like roads bad enough to pay for them, and our distinguished visitors from the cities are very willing to do everything in their power to help us along, except to furnish any of the wherewith or energy to do the actual work.

All over the country there are "commercial clubs" by the thousand. Every town, big or little, has something of the kind, and every so often these clubs meet and whooper-up for good roads. Anyone might think that some of the members of these clubs were going out the next morning, armed with tools made for moving dirt, and that henceforth road improvement would not stop to linger by the wayside, but that the good work would go right on until turnpikes everywhere would be the result. Sorry to say, however, the town man's enthusiasm for good roads ends as it began, in a lot of talk.

All this summer one of these "commercial clubs" near here has been doing a wonderful lot of discussing of what they call "good roads." It was started in the early spring, and we all thought that something might be started before the season for the building of good grades came to an end, but the time when grades should be made is now almost at an end, and still there has been nothing done to the roads, except what the regular tax levy, mostly contributed to by the farmers, has accomplished. In the meantime, the club meets once or twice a month to "discuss," and each time some "stirring resolutions" are adopted, but that is as far as the movement has advanced or is liable to advance.

Of course we need better roads than we have, and generally speaking, we can afford to spend more on our roads than we do, but inasmuch as it is the farmer who already pays for the good we have accomplished to the roads, it seems a strange piece of business for so many of the townspeople to take such keen interest in the upbuilding of the roads, and still stop suddenly short when the time arrives to pitch in and do something that counts for more than discussion or resolutions. It looks like a case of urging the farmer on to see how much can be gotten out of him. If the towns want the better roads right up to the town limits, let them get out and do a little to make them so, or contribute in cash that others may go ahead and even a little to improve the roads better. What we need is less talk and something doing.

FOR FALL CONTESTS

LETTERS NOW BEING SENT TO VARIOUS HIGH SCHOOLS.

TO COMPETE FOR PRIZES

Boys and Girls to Enter Declamatory Contest During Teachers' Conference.

Superintendent of Schools Oakesen is this week sending out letters to the high schools of the county, asking for entries in a declamatory contest, to be held during the teachers' conference in November. The contest will be held in the high school auditorium and prizes will be offered, the first being a gold watch, the second a $10 gold piece and the third a $5 gold piece. If as many as four boys enter the contest will be divided and one contest will be between the boys and the other between the girls. There are twelve high schools in the county and if entries are received from more than eight of them a preliminary contest will be held, as not more than eight contestants can be heard in the time allotted for the evening. The letter follows:

Maryville, Mo., Sept. 18, 1911.—Dear Friends: Our regular fall Teachers' association will be held Nov. 2 and 4, 1911. I am planning again for a declamatory contest by high school pupils. I would like this year to have two divisions of the contest; one a contest by the boys, the other a contest by the girls. If we secure as many as four boys for the contest we will make this division, if not those boys who enter may contest with the girls. Look over your school and see what material you have for the contest. If you have several applicants who desire to enter, you can arrange for a preliminary contest at home, or leave the matter to a vote of the high school pupils or use your own good judgment in the selection of the representative. If you have a boy and a girl each who desire to enter I may be able to admit both, and if that makes too many for the final contest we can have a preliminary contest here the day of the final contest and decide who shall be the final contestants.

Let me hear from you soon regarding the matter. I do not care to know who the contestant will be, but desire to know if you will furnish a girl or a boy for the contest, or both.

The usual good prizes will be offered. For further information concerning the contest write me.

Very truly yours,
W. M. OAKESON.
In previous contests not enough boys have entered to make a separate contest for the boys, but this time it is hoped that a full representation from each of the high schools, of both boys and girls, will enter, which will make the interest much greater.

Largest Circulation in Nodaway County

The Kansas City Star wants the four Democratic members of the board of permanent seat of government to let Governor Hadley have his way about naming the four commissioners that are to build the new capital. If the general assembly had intended for the government to dominate the board it would have said so. The law rests the power to appoint four commissioners in five men equally. It does not say Governor Hadley shall name two of the four members and the other four shall appoint two only. And still the governor wants to do that very thing—appropriate to himself four times as much power as he is willing to concede to either of the other four members of the board. Of course, the governor will not be permitted to get away with any such stunt as this. He is one of the board, not half of it. He will be consulted and will have his say just as any other one of the board will have. He will count one, no more, no less. He will have one vote in five in naming each of the four commissioners—that's what the law gives him; that's all he is entitled to and that's all he will get. This is not official, but it will be found to be correct.

SECRETS OF THE LAUNDRY.

The disinfectant is a most useful and necessary acquisition to the large power laundry. The germ destroying factor, which is the essential feature of the disinfectant, is the heat of high pressure steam, the steam being supplied from a special type of vertical boiler.

The machines which rank next in importance to the disinfectant are the rotary washing machines. These are externally of steel plate and internally of polished copper. The rotary washer consists of a strong steam tight casing built of riveted boiler plate and sufficiently strengthened to enable it to withstand a pressure of steam up to fifty pounds per square inch.

The internal cage in which the clothes are placed is made of copper rods, well cleaned and polished, having their ends attached to "carrying plates," these plates being attached to journals through which the cage is driven. The cage is also provided with "obstruction ribs" to prevent the "roping" (or clinging together) of the articles being washed.

Water and high pressure steam are admitted to the casing, the casing also being provided with an easily closing steam tight door. The rotary washers are provided with automatic reversing gear for the purpose of allowing the internal copper cage to be run a few revolutions in either direction alternately, giving to the clothes the tumbling action so necessary to efficient cleansing.

The hydroextractor comes next, and, as its name implies, it is used for the purpose of extracting the removable water from the clothes by centrifugal force. The articles are placed in a strongly constructed cage, or basket, which is made to rotate at a high rate of speed by belt or direct connected engine. The water thrown off is caught by a strong castiron pan and thence drained away to waste.

The drying closet is next in importance and is a more imposing piece of laundry plant than would be supposed. It is a structure of considerable dimensions, built of brick on three sides and having a well drained cemented floor. A substantial airtight roof is also provided. Much ingenuity has been exercised in the design and construction of the front of the closet. It consists of six, nine, twelve, eighteen and sometimes twenty-four distinct and separate doors, according to the general dimensions of the plant.

These doors are of light castiron with alternate rebates on either side and are seven feet high by twelve inches wide. Each door is provided with rails or "horses," such rails being carried at the back of the closet on a light steel galvanized plate equal in height and width to the front door. On these rails the half dried articles are duly hung, and each and every door may be separately manipulated, i. e. drawn out on outside runners and rails, emptied of clothes and filled with others to be dried.

The heating of the closet is effected by multiple steam heated coils, tested to 120 pounds per square inch and efficiently drained of water by a steam trap. The vapor arising from the clothes is mechanically drawn from the closet by an exhaust fan scientifically arranged in conjunction with a duct for dry air, it having been early known by the manufacturers to be impossible to dry effectively clothes by simply heating them. The air loaded with vapor must be withdrawn mechanically and dry air must replace it.

Woman's Prerogative.

"I want to talk about my husband," said the stout woman, as she took a chair and sat upon the lounge.

"That is woman's prerogative," replied the great detective. "Proceed, Mrs. Smith. Tut, tut, don't ask me. It's very simple. I know your name is Smith because one out of every thousand names is Smith, and my dear madam, I saw at a glance that you are a woman in a thousand."

"He acts funny, peculiar, odd, strange," went on the woman, "when ever he mails a letter. I have been afraid to mention it to him, but, oh, sir, sir, oh, I fear there is some terrible secret behind it all. First he stands, with legs wide apart, in front of the mail box, then he waves the stamp three times over his head and runs the envelope on his bald spot, and then he puts the stamp on upside down. Not once, but every time he mails a letter, and—"

"Madam," interrupted the great detective, "is your husband a graduate of a correspondence school?" and when she nodded a surprised affirmative, he explained. "Then no further fears. It used to be his college yell, and he still has the habit."—Philadelphia Times.

Russian Prayer Halls.

In the villages of Russia the "prayer hall" in the common "izba" or cottage of a Stundist mujik, or a shed attached to a very primitive farmstead surrounded by prodigious quantities of mud, dust or snow, according to the season of the year. A separate building erected expressly for worship among the rural evangelicals of Russia is a luxury yet to be provided in the great majority of cases. The meeting place, whether "izba" or outhouse, has walls of earth, and is without ceiling. The floor is the bare earth, trodden hard by many feet through the lapse of long years, and worn into lumps and hollows. The walls are lime washed and destitute of decoration or adornment. There are rough wooden benches around and across the room. The place is usually packed to suffocation with men, women and children, crowded on the seats, thronging the doorways and huddling together on the top of the huge stove.—Detroit Free Press.

LADIES BAND INSTRUMENTS ON DISPLAY

Many of the instruments for the new Maryville ladies' band that has been organized by Miss Alma Nash were placed on display Monday morning in the Field-Lippman piano store, on West Third street, and the assortment of instruments make a very handsome window attraction.

The silver plated cornet that will be played by Miss Mary Q. Evans is a little beauty.

All the instruments are handsome and are enough to make their owners straighten up an inch or so with very pardonable pride.

Mr. F. P. Rowilson, manager of the Field-Lippman store, ordered the instruments for the young ladies, and takes nearly as much pride in their display as their owners.

Miss Nash now has thirty-four young women and girls in her band, a list of whom we will give Tuesday.

The many friends of Hon. E. P. Deal of Mississippi county are urging him to become a candidate for the nomination for state treasurer. He has been on the appropriations committee during his three terms in the house, being chairman of that committee. Last winter he was the hardest working member of the house. No legislation was delayed by this committee, and for the first time no amendments were made to any of the appropriations which were not approved by the committee. Mr. Deal is a genial, hard-working all-around man, and his party would make no mistake in nominating him. ANDERSON CRAIG.

WHERE JOHN D.'S WEALTH REPOSES

Steel Citadel Under One of New York's Big Banks.

TEN LOCKS AND THICK DOORS

Vault That Guards $200,000,000 In Securities Cost $100,000 to Build—Million Possible Combinations to the Locks, and It Is Impossible For Any One to Pick Them.

Under the northeast corner of the New York Produce Exchange reposes the bulk of the collateral wealth of the richest man in the world—John D. Rockefeller. In a specially constructed bombproof, burglar proof and fireproof vault built under the structure has been stored upward of $200,000,000 worth of securities, the personal property of Mr. Rockefeller.

Of course John D. does not put all his eggs in one basket. His mortgages are reported to be lodged in the vaults under the Rockefeller building in Cleveland, O., and there are a score of banks and trust companies throughout the country which carry large balances in his name. Besides, John D. has other hiding places in the downtown section of Manhattan for United States bonds and various securities put up with him for short term loans. But his principal eggs are in the iron nest under the New York Produce Exchange, where scissors clip merrily for him on the big coupon days.

Ten Locks Secure Treasure.

Between the street outside and the repositories of the Rockefeller securities are ten locks varied in character. The first is the bolt in the outside door at the sidewalk level. The second is the bolt in the door opening from the foot of the stairs into the public entrance of the safe deposit company.

Once in front of the iron vault, which is the largest of its kind in the world devoted to containing the properties of a single person, there is presented to view a cage not at all unlike the one in which the famous Captain Dreyfus was confined at Devil's Island.

Eight locks still confront you. The first of these is turned in the door opening through the grilled cage surrounding the door of the vault proper.

There now remain seven locks in the John D. series. Two of these are padlocks, one upon each of the two combination locks visible from the exterior of the closed door of the vault. Each has a different combination to unlock. There are six tumblers on each lock. The numbers run from 1 to 100, which makes each lock susceptible to 1,000,000 changes. It is impossible for anybody to pick these combination locks.

The door of the vault is moved by hand, and it opens easily owing to its swinging upon a compound double goose crane hinge, which is carefully balanced on ball and roller bearings made of the finest hardened tool steel. This permits the door to swing lightly, although it has the weight of nine tons.

The interior of the vault is nine feet wide, nine feet high and fifteen feet deep. The wall of the vault has a thickness of forty inches. In the center of thirty-six inches of concrete are ninety pound steel rails set six inches apart in double rows, interlocked so as to be practically three inches apart. The remaining four inches of the wall are four one-inch thicknesses of solid steel.

Twenty Safes Inside.

Looking toward the open door toward the interior of the vault there are arranged upon either side numerous compartments or small safes. There are from fifteen to twenty of these, varying in size. These chests have sides two inches thick, with doors from two and a half to three inches thick, all of the best steel, and each of these doors is locked by heavy bolt work similar to that of the big door of the vault. The average height of the chests are four feet each, with a width of four feet and a depth of two feet.

In one of these inner inside compartments is a card index, which even Solomon in all his wisdom could not guess. The index registers the bonds, with their dates of maturity and the months when the coupons come off.

Mr. Rockefeller planned his vault at a time when President McKinley was an occupant of the White House. The oil king had ordered many smaller vaults from the Canton concern—located in the home of McKim—for his various refineries through western Pennsylvania and northeastern Ohio. The vault is said to have cost between $75,000 and $100,000.

Miss Marie Brink left Sunday for Columbia, Mo., where she will attend the state university the coming year.

Miss Roine Gray and Miss Mamel Null, high school students, spent Sunday with home folks at Pickering.

Rev. and Mrs. F. M. Lindenmeyer and baby daughter of Pickering were in Maryville Monday morning.

WHY THEY GO ON A STRIKE.

British Railway Employee's Side of Their Troubles.

UNDERPAID AND OVERWORKED

While Roads Declare Enormous Dividends—Pension Fund Really a Source of Income to Employers and of Little Benefit to Men.

A few thousand shareholders in the railroads of Great Britain divide among themselves each year the enormous sum of $215,000,000. There are fifty-one highly paid managers, who receive salaries of $1,155 per week. One general manager who directs a small Scottish line gets $25,000 a year.

Now, as an offset to these high priced people there are 150,000 employees whose average wage is less than $5 per week, while another 350,000 average $5.60 per week. Altogether there are about 534,000 employees in these low earning positions.

When a previous strike was threatened evidence was given before the labor commission that many employees worked seventy hours per week for $3.36. The railway workers get less wages per man than any other trade in England.

The following statement was made by an employee of a British railway and throws considerable light on the recent strike situation and recites in part the grievances behind the present industrial upheaval in the United Kingdom:

At the Beginning.

"I began life in a signal box as a lad, earning $1.50 per week. Every other Sunday I had to work for nothing. I suppose it was because I was only a boy and couldn't help myself. At the same time if my time was worth anything it ought to have been paid for."

"When I was old enough to handle baggage and do the work of a porter around the stations I got 50 cents more a week for two years and then I was raised to $2.50 per week. Though doing a grown man's work, I only got $2.50 per week for two years, because there is a rule by which one cannot get more than this sum until one is eighteen years old, no matter what work he does."

"Besides doing portering, I had to do 'fogging' or putting fog signals on the track when required. This work is very dangerous, but we get no extra pay for it whatever. Sometimes after a full ten hour day portering, or pulling about heavy baggage, I have to go on 'fog duty' nearly all night, especially in December, when we have those heavy fogs. The railway gives us no extra pay for this, but allows us 12 cents' worth of 'grub.' They would not have allowed us the 12 cents' worth of 'grub' only the men used to get so hungry they would quit work to get food, and that endangered the lives of passengers. So the company gave us the allowance of actual food, but no increase of money."

"For our first twelve hours' work of 'fogging' we get, as I said, 12 cents' worth of 'grub.' If our work lasts longer than twelve hours we get another 18 cents—in 'grub,' not money. Working all day as a parcel porter and then working all night at 'fogging' is pretty rough. It is a wonder more trains don't go to smash, the men are often so exhausted and sleepy. Some of the men meet with accidents at times because they get too tired to look sharp every instant."

Wages $5.28 a Week.

"My wages are now 22 shillings ($5.28) per week, out of which the company each week takes 18 cents for what it calls 'provident and pension.' That is to give us a pension after we get to sixty-five years. But, let me tell you, mighty few of us live that long. If you leave the company after paying into this fund for ten years you don't get a cent back. It is all velvet to them. Every single man-married ones, too—must pay into this fund. The company must get a snug little sum, considering that so few reach the pension age."

"As a mere porter and without fogging I work ten full hours a day and often have extra work at night. For the night work all the extra pay I get is 44 cents. I have often worked from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. and then right on to 3 a. m. next morning, just getting this 44 cents and no more."

"The company allows us no time for food, so we have to snatch it when we get a chance. This means doing heavy work often on insufficient food and sometimes without any at all. Some of this work is very dangerous, as we often have to get down on the tracks and shift parcels from one platform to another. Men are often killed by passing 'specials.' The parcels often weigh 150 to 200 pounds."

"I am married and support as best I can a wife and one child on $5.28 per week. Less 18 cents for 'provident and pension,' less $1.50 per week for two rooms for rent in a slum quarter, less, say, 32 cents for coal, leaves $2.98 for self, wife and baby."

French Workmen's Pension Law.

The French workmen's pension law calls for a contribution of about $1.60 a year by each beneficiary, an equal sum by his employer, and the state adds a third.

Home of the Guillotine.

A wagon drawn by the two prize horses Gaspard and Balthazar made its way slowly and solemnly through Paris from M. Deibler's shed in the Rue de la Folie-Regnault to the San prison, Boulevard Arago. It was evident from the care taken that the contents of the wagon were precious and if it had been known that the guillotine, which has served its sister purpose for many years on the Place de la Roquette and all over France, was being moved to its new home more persons would have stopped to look at the silent procession.

The new home of M. Deibler's "waggon" is the courtyard of the San prison, so that when an execution contemplated now there will be watching the premises in the Rue de la Folie-Regnault for signs of activity as a "tip" that M. Deibler is going to operate. Now the machine will be hand, except, of course, when it performs out of the capital. The residents in the neighborhood of the former resting place certainly are not complaining of its departure.—Petit Journal.

TROOPS FIRE ON VIENNA RIOTERS

Mobs Riot in Protest at the High Food Prices.

MANY KILLED OR WOUNDED.

Seufferers for Necessities of Life Are in Open Warfare—Cheer for Portugal and Revolution—Cavalry Charges Made Upon People.

Vienna, Sept. 18.—Traceable to the high price of the necessities of life riots broke out here and many persons were killed or wounded. Troops fired on the mob, which had erected barricades in the streets. There was a fierce exchange of bullets and the soldiers were pelted with all sorts of missiles.

Following a huge socialistic demonstration outside the rathaus, held for the purpose of protesting against the high prices of food, it became necessary to call out troops to disperse the rioters. In the early clashes fifty of the rioters were wounded and 100 arrested. Fifty thousand persons were present at the demonstration and fiery speeches were made demanding that the government permit the importation of foreign meat and take other measures to remedy the conditions which have resulted from the prohibitory increase in the price of food.

After the meeting a large procession marched to the parliament buildings, cheering for revolution and Portugal. Revolvers were fired in the air and then the mob began stone-throwing. A squadron of dragoons and a detachment of infantry charged the rioters and dispersed them. The mob demolished all the street lamps in the main thoroughfares, plunging the city into darkness. They erected barricades, hurled missiles of various kinds on the soldiers from the upper windows of houses. The order was at length given to the troops to fire. At the first volley many rioters fell, either killed or wounded. Several of the soldiers and policemen also were injured and 100 or more rioters were arrested.

MISSOURI HERMIT SLAIN

Robbery Supposed to Have Been the Motive for the Crime.

Mason, Mo., Sept. 18.—Dr. I. R. Howell, coroner of Macon county, was notified that John Gordon Jones, the old hermit of the Charlton valley, was found with a bullet hole through his head. Some boys who had been hunting in the woods stepped into the cave to see the old man and found his body. Things were somewhat disarranged.

The hermit was about seventy-five years old. For nearly forty years he has lived in a little cave or sod house that he erected when he took up his land. He was very frugal and it is said he has a great deal of money out at interest and it is possible that some person believed he had some hidden away near his cabin.

MEXICAN MOB SLEW THREE

Eighteen Persons Were Injured in Riots in Monterey.

Monterey, Mex., Sept. 18.—Three men were killed and eighteen wounded in Monterey in the anniversary celebration which degenerated into a riot.

The riot began with the stoning of windows, and when the police attempted to disperse the crowd they were fired on. A detachment of cavalry was immediately dispatched to the Plaza Juarez, the scene of the disturbance, and finally suppressed the riot after charging the mob several times with drawn sabers.

The bodies of those killed showed bullet wounds, indicating that they were victims of the mob.

DEATH LIST MOUNTS TO A TOTAL OF TEN

Lee Oldfield, Driver of Skidding Auto, in Serious Condition.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Harry Bradley of Franklin, N. Y., one of those injured by Lee Oldfield's car when it crashed through the fence at the state fair, is dead. His death brings the list of dead up to ten. Half a dozen of the score or more who sustained injuries as a result of the accident are still on the critical list. Oldfield, driver of the automobile, is in a serious condition with a fractured rib and internal hurts.

The accident happened in the forty-third mile. De Palma was leading by a lap, with Oldfield trailing him, as they entered the first quarter of that mile. The big cars, traveling, it is estimated, at seventy-five miles an hour, were running side by side as they swung around the turn, after passing the grandstand.

As they took the turn there was a report. The car driven by Oldfield leaped in the air. Then it swerved to the outer side and crashed through the fence. The crippled machine, beyond the control of the driver, ploughed through hundreds of persons lined along the fence.

The financial loss is about $20,000.

In the front ranks of the volunteer fire fighters was Aviator Robert G. Fowler, who is preparing to scale the high Sierras on the third leg of his transcontinental aeroplane trip.

DEAD AUTHOR WON A SUFFRAGE PRIZE.

Miss Taylor's Hymn Accepted Two Weeks After Her Demise.

A poem written by Miss Minetta Theodora Taylor, educator and author, of Greencastle, Ind., has been awarded the $100 prize offered by the woman's suffrage party of New York for a national suffrage anthem. Ninety-eight poems were submitted in the contest, and the one accepted was sent in by the author five days before her death, two weeks ago.

The words, which have been copyrighted by the woman's suffrage party, are as follows:

Once more awakes the spirit of the just
And a wide flame is kindled from the dust.
Women, for the right we know,
For the duty that we owe,
For all souls now here and coming, vote
We must.

CHORUS.

We the people! All the people! How it rings!
Justice broad and free, the living heart of things.
Sisters working for the light,
Brothers striving for the right,
We the people! All the people! How it rings!

Our voice is for wisdom of the free
Ever growing since our parents crossed the sea.
Silence in the court of wrong
To the weakling must belong
Let our spirits, strong and earnest, speak
And see.

We are walking where the heroes all have trod,
A weary way where we can only plod,
But we're toiling in the space
Where the martyrs took their place,
And our mighty shout is risen to our God.

Ye powers of evil, earth is not your own!
Women helping, you shall yet be overthrown.
And a better life shall rise
Than has gladdened human eyes,
And true peace shall blend the nations
Into one.

Let us stand together, women, hard and fast!
Let us vow to keep the faith until the last!
By the truth the world has learned,
By the falsehood it has spurned,
We will vote and rise above the vanished past.

HEART ON HIS RIGHT SIDE.

Bloomfield Boy Eleven Years Old Before Fact Is Discovered.

The fact that the heart of eleven-year-old William Stevens of Bloomfield, N. J., is on the right side of his body was revealed recently.

The boy has been complaining for several days of a pain in his right side. It was at first believed by his parents that the pain was due to a summer complaint, and they administered home remedies. These failed to give relief, and a physician was summoned. He gave the boy a thorough examination and declared that he found nothing wrong with his physical condition.

"There is just one other thing I can do," remarked the physician, "and that is to make a careful test of the heart."

Then the doctor applied the stethoscope to the left side of the boy's body. The boy's breathing was regular, but there was no heartbeat. The physician was puzzled for a moment, and then he tried the instrument to the right side.

"There are cases on record," he said, "where the heart is on the right side."

It was then that he made the discovery that the boy's heart was not where it should be.

MEXICO FEARS REVOLT.

Calls Off Independence Day Festivity of Sept. 16.

Fear of an uprising against the government on the anniversary of Mexican Independence, Sept. 16, will result in almost all celebration being postponed this year. The officials of Torreón, Gomez Palacio and Lerdo in the state of Durango, have already ordered that there shall be no celebration.

The Mexican government is taking active steps to curb the Socialists. For scattering arraignments of President Taft, King Alfonso and the Emperor William Lazaro Gutierrez de Lara, the Mexican Socialist who created a sensation in the United States by his identification with the articles on "Barbarous Mexico," is now behind the bars in Torreón charged with insulting the heads of foreign governments. He is the man who spent considerable time in an El Paso jail for creating a disturbance in the streets during the late Mexican revolution. Also he was arrested in Los Angeles and held for extradition for the Mexican government, but defeated the extradition effort.

Miss Dora McKenzie and Miss Mary Culver spent Saturday evening at the Bolckow fair.

College of Agriculture at the State Fair.

Visitors to the Missouri state fair at Sedalia, September 30th to October 6th, should not fail to see the exhibit of the college of agriculture in the university building. It will tell in a most highly interesting manner of the results obtained in various parts of Missouri by applying scientific methods to ordinary farm practice.

Among the interesting exhibits of the dairy department will be a daughter of "Josephine" with a record greater than that of her mother at the same age. The method of making hog cholera serum—its application and its beneficial effects will occupy a portion of the veterinary exhibit. By means of pictures and charts the story will be told of how corn yields have been increased on some Missouri farms 16½ to 25 bushels per acre, and wheat 15 bushels; how by proper pruning peach trees have been made to produce two additional crops in eight years; how the ravages of plant diseases and insect pests may be successfully controlled; how intelligent feeding and breeding may be combined to produce the most perfect specimens of beef cattle.

In short, the exhibit will cover every phase of activity which makes the college of agriculture a power for the betterment of Missouri farm conditions.

Representatives of the farm management department will occupy a special booth, and will be on hand at all times to confer with farmers in regard to planning crop rotations, systems of stock farm management and all details connected with successful present day farm practices.

A Way to Remove the Hairs.

What shall we do with our hairs in elevators? It has been hitherto regarded as good manners to remove your hair if the lift in which you were traveling contained a lady. Now there has arisen a school of thought which opposes this, and a league of hat retainers is actually forming. One man, confessing to a name like "Mildew," writes gallantly, saying that elevator hat removing is a farcical courtesy.

We remember that some persons of Mr. Mildew's way of thinking were once traveling in an elevator, and a crowded one. Hats were not removed. But a pert young woman, and not uncommonly, uttered the cruel remark: "Say, Sadie, they must all have bald spots on their heads." Hats were rapidly removed. Women solve world problems with startling rapidity.—New York Evening Telegraph.

DON'T EXPERIMENT.

You Will Make No Mistake if You Follow This Maryville Citizen's Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys.

If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are all symptoms of kidney trouble, and you should seek a remedy which is known to cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use. No need to experiment. It has cured many stubborn cases in Maryville. Follow the advice of a Maryville citizen and be cured yourself.

Mrs. A. Weidman, East Thompson street, Maryville, Mo., says: "I had terrible pains in my kidneys and was also bothered by the kidney secretions. The contraction of a cold or a change in the weather was sure to increase my suffering. I used every remedy that I thought would help me, but met with indifferent success. I had about despaired of ever finding relief, when I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured a box at Charles A. Love's drug store and found them to be especially adapted to my case. I was soon free from all aches and pains and my kidneys were restored to a normal condition. I have enjoyed excellent health since then and I know that my cure is a permanent one."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

YOUR GRAY HAIRS QUICKLY VANISH

A Harmless Remedy, Made from Garden Sage, Restores Color to Gray Hair.

A feeling of sadness accompanies the discovery of the first gray hairs, which, unfortunately, are looked upon as heralds of advancing age. Gray hairs, however, are not always an indication of advancing age, for many people have gray hairs quite early in life. Of course, it is unnatural, and indicates that there is something wrong with the individual, and that nature needs assistance in correcting the trouble. The same is true of hair that is constantly falling out and becoming thinner every day. If everything is right with nature, the hair, even in comparatively elderly people, should be long, thick and glossy, without even a streak of gray.

The ideal assistant to nature in restoring and preserving the hair is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a clean and wholesome dressing for daily use. It not only removes dandruff, but strengthens weak, thin and falling hair and promotes its growth. A few applications will restore faded or gray hair to its natural color.

Get a bottle today, and let it do for you what it has done for thousands of others.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special agents, Koch Pharmacy.

FORMER SENATOR CARTER IS DEAD

Picturesque Character in National Politics Passes Away.

DIES AT WASHINGTON HOME.

Was Twice Montana Senator, His Last Term Expiring on March 3, This Year—Was Once Chairman of Republican National Committee.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Former United States Senator Thomas Henry Carter of Montana, for many years a notable and picturesque character in national politics, once chairman of the © 1911, by American Press Association.

THOMAS H. CARTER.

Republican national committee, and since last year chairman of the American section of the international commission, died at his home of infection of the lungs. He was fifty-seven years old.

Mr. Carter was born in Scioto county, Ohio, Oct. 30, 1854, went to the common schools in Illinois, engaged in farming, railroading and school teaching for a number of years; studied law and in 1882 moved from Burlington, Ia., to Helena, Mont.

Mr. Carter had a remarkable career. It extended over twenty-two years of congressional and official life at Washington. This embraced service as the first representative elected from Montana, two terms in the United States senate and executive positions as commissioner of the general land office, chairman of the Republican national committee in the second and unsuccessful campaign of Benjamin Harrison for the presidency, president of the United States commissioners for the Louisiana Purchase exposition at St. Louis and since last March chairman of the newly created "international joint commission, American section," and practically charged with Canadian boundary matters.

His defeat by a Democrat for reelection to the senate caused Mr. Carter's retirement from the body March 4 last. He framed and fought for conservation legislation, opposed extravagance in irrigation projects and campaigned for the Taft Canadian reciprocity bill.

Perhaps the most remarkable of all his forensic achievements was his defeat of a big river and harbor appropriation bill. President McKinley did not favor the bill, and Mr. Carter, always a strong administration supporter, began a speech against it at 10:30 o'clock at night and talked continuously until noon of the day following when the session of congress expired.

are preventing a motion picture from being shown at the church, which was laid down by the others of the church.

Mr. McGuire claims to have purchased the lot on which the church is located and the property is dedicated for a certain cause and a certain sect and the elders of that church refuse to ordain Rev. Mr. Parker as a minister at their meeting at Hule. The case will come up for hearing at the November term of the district court.

BOAT INJURES LANDSMEN

Three Were Victims When a Motor Craft Came Ashore.

Buffalo, Sept. 18.—Dixie IV, Frederick K. Burnham's speedy motor boat, which defended the Harnsworth cup at Huntington, L. I., and won the championship of the United States, lies a wreck on a narrow ridge of rocks between the Niagara river and the Erie canal, off Riverside park. The Dixie was leading in a race for the Great Lakes championship and was speeding at thirty-nine miles an hour when the accident occurred, which resulted in the injury of three spectators.

Mr. Burnham, who was at the wheel, and four of his crew escaped uninjured. Harold Bell, a thirteen-year-old boy, suffered a fractured skull and will die. His mother, Mrs. Elmer Bell, was injured about the head, and the leg of John Daniels, son of Dr. John Daniels, was cut off just above the ankle.

Something went wrong with the Dixie's steering gear. It careened for a moment, then headed directly for the shore. The Dixie leaped entirely out of the water and dashed into the crowd on shore, which was slow to scatter when the boat headed toward them, not realizing that it was beyond control.

MOROCCAN CRISIS NEAR END

Germany and France Have Few Points of Difference.

Berlin, Sept. 18.—It is declared in official circles that the French reply to the German counter-proposals on the Moroccan affair is thoroughly satisfactory. An agreement, it is stated, has been reached on a majority of the points in dispute. Germany is hastening her answer and it probably will be some slight modifications of the French text of the new agreement and then it will be only a matter of drafting a treaty.

The German reply to the French note will be concerned chiefly with the question of guarantees whereby a policy of an open door in Morocco will be adequately assured to all nations, including arrangements to prevent the customs administration and railroad management being so manipulated as to give an unfair advantage to French shippers and providing for a fair division in the matter of public works.

Germany's policy of non-interference of the Moroccan question were a subject of discussion at the statement of all nations in accordance with which the Moroccan question was being dismissed within three days following their returns from the maneuvers.

CATARH sufferers.

If You Don't Know About Hyomel Try It at the Great-Henry Drug Company's Risk.

Nearly every reader of The Democrat-Forum has read about Hyomel, but many of them continue to suffer from catarrh just because they do not exactly understand just what Hyomel is.

To these sufferers the Great-Henry Drug company says you don't have to know anything about Hyomel except that you can breathe it and that it does not contain cocaine or opium or any harmful drug.

You can find out all about Hyomel without taking any chances whatever. Just get an outfit today, read the simple instructions, give it a fair trial and then if you are not willing to say that it is the best remedy for catarrh you have ever used the Great-Henry Drug Co. will gladly return your money.

A complete Hyomel outfit costs but $1.00. Extra bottles 50 cents.

Say, Have You Ever

Bought any coal from Frank G. Shoemaker and had it delivered with the big white wagon? Those white wagons don't make a bad appearance on the streets of the city do they? And the horses look like they had enough to eat too. So do the drivers. The scales and yards are kept up in the same way, and that system of doing business makes it a legitimate mercantile business, like any other business of the city, and worthy of your patronage if prices and coals are right, and they are—because I am behind every pound of coal sold. If it is not right I will see that it is satisfactory or money refunded. Let me figure with you for your winter coal.

Yours truly,
F. G. SHOEMAKER, Sr.
